

For more than 50 years, Autoweek has been a leading news source for all things automotive. As part of the Crain Communications family, we pride ourselves on honest and comprehensive journalism.

As the car world has evolved, so have we. Our award-winning coverage has grown to reflect all elements of the automotive lifestyle, including design, technology, gear and more.

Your readers will benefit from the expert opinion and extensive coverage that only autoweek.com can provide.

Here’s what you can expect:

- Unbiased car reviews
- The latest news and trends from the car world
- Racing coverage for everything on four wheels
- Straight-from-the-show-floor auto show coverage
- “But Wait, There’s More...” – a humorous look at the world, through a car guy’s lens
- A rarified look at the car-collector world
- Customizable feeds to fit your coverage needs

Based on the frequency and volume of content, pricing is subject to change.

Additional details:

- While we prefer our partners to partial-publish articles, we will allow full publishing. However, content must carry no-follow tags and credit Autoweek (including a link to autoweek.com).
- It is up to the licensee to select the content for use on their site.
- In most cases, images are included with the article. Licensee will be provided with a short list of those photographs not available for re-publishing.

For more information, please contact wdavis@autoweek.com